

Systems of Control

Chorus: Land management, systems of control
The economy, systems of control
Corporate media, systems of control
Law enforcement, systems of control
Legislation, systems of control
Public education, systems of control
The government, systems of control
Machine culture, systems of control

I seen faces, darkened with hunger
Mistreatment of the older and younger
I've seen people choose to sell their minds
For a fabricated lifestyle they don't find
Defeated by systems of control
Protect your mind and protect your soul
Or they'll take all of it, then install a chip, broadcast upgrade reboot polish it

Mechanized like a metronome, jam frequencies or they'll get your dome
We moved up out the concrete electric haze
And make war on machines til the end of days
Not really machines but their not human beings,
They can stop with the schemes cause there is something inbetween
The regimen and routine, keeping my conscious clean
And the sattelittes they beam won't ever reach in my dreams

We don't want no worldwide globalized government
Machines are in control and they fucking lovin' it
They wanna, mechanize and control the world
Put computer chips into every boy and girl
And so we, anti systems of control
Here to take it all back, everything that they stole
Anti systems of control
Protect your mind and protect your soul.

Chorus

This is the complaint, so consider it filed
I don't want no computer chip in my child
No retinal scan computerized compiled
And no machine culture cause my earth is wild
Hair blood mucus teeth and claws
With no system of courts, penalties and laws with flaws
Unfixable on principle, international oligarchs think they invincible
Underground silos, weapons that's chemical
Standards of beauty where girls look identical
Prefixes, sub clauses, fine printed contracts
Packed with acts that protract the facts
Spider web tentacles, mechanized thought
Systems and secrets with truth that is bought
Your mind is the place where the war is fought
So protect what is left and defend what you got.

We don't want no world wide globalized government
Machines are in control and they fuckin lovin it
They wanna, mechanize and control the world
Put computer chips into every boy and girl
And so we, anti systems of control
Here to take it all back, everything that they stole
Anti systems of control, protect your mind and protect your soul
