

DOWNFALL

Chorus:

Organize your people and gather around all

Reason we here is to instigate the downfall

Watch the buildings crumble from city to town hall

You can bring one down

Etheric Double:

On the backs of Rhino's we come chargin out tha Tree's
Assault the cityscape in covert teams of Three's
Infiltrate and Destroy with Guerilla Expertise
Leave no witness, take out all who See's
Its the Machines were after, and their gov't decrees fuck their soul less culture spreadin disease
Anti-Hero soldiers, ready to bleed we fight in the streets until we Succeed

Don't need their automobiles, don't need their greed
Don't need their schools, all they do is mislead
Don't need their money, we won't pay to breathe
Don't need their corporate brainwash TV's

The Machines label us primitive, uncivilized
Even though on Sunday they ritually cannabalize
We send teams of spies, cloaked in disguise
Who mark on maps where they keep their supplies
So when we Attack, bombs strapped to our Backs
We don't target buildings on our maps marked in Black
We plan carefully, nothing slips through the cracks
We Act Fast, Move Quick, Succeed and Head Back

To the forest whence we came, leave nothing intact
With every City we Burn, they feel the Impact
We recruit the rebels that we daily attract
Cuz Machines send assassins to follow our Tracks

Deep in the woods where we hold our final Ground
Leave them purposefully to a fake Compound
The follow us in, then begin to look around
Its a Trap, Hidden Soldiers Quickly Surround
The last battle fought, we attack with vicious hounds
Murder the pursuers and pile them in Mounds
One pretends to go down, resorts to a crawl
But we take no prisoners, We Kill Them All

CHORUS

Fenix:

We live deep inside the treeline with rifles and supplies
Hidden bunkers in the mountains where the hills have eyes
In the Anti-Hero Underground like lord of the flies
Crumbling cities set fire to the skies
In the aftermath of machines the ruin the earth
We struggle to survive and reevaluate our worth
Machines will reconstruct themselves and come on after us
Hunt us down and kill us off they will attempt to capture us
It will be like this again this is a reoccurring theme
Nature vs nurture
Man vs machine
They shut off the water
We gathered the rain
They sent the stormtroopers, we met them as they came
When the poisoned the food, we planted and grew our own
Escaped back to the trees but they didn't leave us alone
Here we are again, openly engaged in war
Gathering the forces we won't take it anymore
The forest is alive with the clout of dissent
Burning buildings like the bodies of the soldiers that they sent

We hung them from the trees let them hang as a warning

Machines will never win let the stormtroopers be storming

Anti-Heroes versus cyborgs, piles of circuits

We hunt elk in the meadow cultivate the land and work it

We instigate the battle strike first and don't stall, destroying the machines

Buildings, bridges, and it all, downfall
